

Colby Takeda

Colby Takeda is the Administrator of The Plaza at Waikiki, an assisted living community in Honolulu, Hawaii. In addition to being able to spend his days with over 150 of the cutest, funniest, and most talented seniors in Hawaii, Colby enjoys working with youth, and has merged these interests to become a champion for intergenerational activities and age-friendly communities. He is currently managing two community grants from America Walks and AARP, and enjoys collaborating with multisectoral partnerships to creatively address social determinants of health. Colby has been a proud HPHA board member since 2013 and enjoys contributing to the organization's member relations, communications, programs, and events.

Colby received his B.A. from Willamette University and his M.B.A. from the University of Hawaii at Manoa Shidler College of Business, and is currently a M.P.H. candidate at the University of California, Berkeley School of Public Health. He also has a Graduate Certificate in Philanthropic Studies from the Indiana University Lilly Family School of Philanthropy and enjoys being able to serve the community through various non-profit organizations.
